THE WATER QUESTION

We hope no one will fail to attend the meet which is called for Saturday evening, the 19th, at the City Hall, to discuss the subject of bringing water to our town, it is at present, cur greatest, if not our only absolute need. In 1875, Mr Geirge Summers made an estimate of what it would cost to bring an unfailing and al undant supply of pure water to our doors, according to this estima e the cost would then have been $95,000, it braight in iron pipes, =05,000, if brough in iron bound wooden tipes, this was tringing the water from Bear Creek, which is sail to carry always an abundint supply Kuxt n Creek, Sutherland Creek, and other streams are probably equally good

As cen as we have water our insurance rates will be much diminished, this very fact siss to us in the plainest manner what would with a glass a large fire should break out ir cur mids. VACCINATION

In our last issue we mentioned the exclusion of eighty children from our school on account of not being vaccinated. It was well and wisely done on the part of the School Board, but the fa t that eighty the Iren in a school of some four hundred, remain without protection from one of the worst calamities to which human flesh is liable, when such protection is easily and sately attained, shows an amount of either carelessness or ignorance on a community, claiming at least an ordinary With the carelessness we have little to do, people will be careless of life and limb in all It is the almost mexplicable fact that there are persons of seemingly average intelligence, who, at this day, either doubt the protective power of vaccination, or deem the evil effects of the operation-mostly if not entirely imaginativemore to be dreaded than the fearful disease

To reason with such people is useless, but we can at least have the satisfaction of throw my some nard facts at their heads, hoping they may, from their very bardness, be able to penetrate; for after, sixty years of experience, facts are plentiful, and undeniable, more nearly apmoaching certainty than any other matter in

Van conation was introduced at the end of the last Century, becoming prevalent in the second decade of the present. During the one hun sensi years before vaccination, there were, in man. pox; curring the fifty five years since, are given a desire for improvement. No jarent there save been out twelve. Again, vaccination is now compulsory in some countries, i e Germany; in others, as them some freedom leave them free to perish the proportion is but four the number of epidemics and in the proportion of deaths, it remains, however, to prove the safety of individua s among a non protected population, where small pox still exists. We can best do this by referring to the statistics of the British Army In the West Indies the British Government had, from the year 1817 to 1837, an aggregate of 128,000 troops, black and white, having 8,448 deaths from all causes. During this time there were several exidences of small pox among the inhabitants, out not a single death in the Army In Malia there was a severe epidemic in 1830 with a mortality of 1,048 in a population of 100,000 In 1833 another with 121 deaths, during this time or rather for a period of twenty years, in cluding this time, there were resident 40,000 Bittish troops, with but two, deaths from the frevailing disease

The e statistics might be prolonged indeh i meet a dat er will which we may, any mich, but they all point in one direction, and without exception demonstrate the almost perbut pretective power of vaccination. D waappreciate the excellence of our pub east at ex, tience and thorough business I c school, and he w fort mate we are in the teach ers who have it in charge Professor Parker, the principal, is tho oughly in earnest in the work he has undertaken. He states that there are 584 school children in this district-298 in attendance, and 394 on the list. There are six trachers in this school, the building is large, well lighted, and well furnished, the pupils seem under excellent control and well disciplined, and judging from what can be seen in one visit, are well advanced in their studies In no way can we so well stimulate these pupils as by showing that we are interested in what they are doing, pleased with their progress, and that we expect a great deal of them

Anyone desirous of visiting the schoo, may be sure of a cordial and courteous reception We must all strive that our beautiful school building shall not be a useless pile of stone, but a building from which shall come citizens well trained and taught, well equipped with true knowledge to do their work in the world, Professor Parker believing in the truth of the the part of their parents, which is no credit to proverb that "all work and no play makes ack a dull boy," has prevailed that children in the primary department shall only have a half session each day. These children are taught much on the Kindergarten system They are imaginable and unimaginable ways, but we taught words before the alphabet, those read fear the state of affairs defrecated, is more the ling in this department read with excellent em result of ignorance than of mere carelessness, phasis and intonation; among the first lessons punctuation is taught. It is endeavored to govern all the pupils in this school by appeal ing to their honor. Now, when so much is being done in the school, can we not take some steps toward establishing a library of useful books, beginning with a good encyclopedia for the more advanced class, particularly to the class in literature, this would be of great vaue. Professer Parker is at present at work on some improvements which he hopes to have adopted in the system of education now in use. Among other things he wishes to introduce drawing, that very necessary part of a liberal education. The cass of children in attendance at his school as might be expected, from the character of our population, form a most favorable contrast to the class found in the majority of Eastern free schools, they are the chi dren of mielligent parents. The work is not a l to be cone seventy-one distinct epidemics of by the teachers; in their homes these culturen

W are informed by Mr Kennedy that there are sixty institutions for Deaf Mutes in the United States, and by Professor Ralston, that in Germ ny and in Germai youly, acticulalatem is thught. Many of these pupils have for merly spoken, but having through illness lost the sense of hearing, they have forgotten speech They all have the power of making sound, where they have ever spoken, with instructions they may be preserved from forgetting, and in some instances even those born dumb can be taught to articulate. It is most desira ble to have a teacher in this branch with us There is need of more room, and there is also need of a library. Surely we might in a measure meet the latter need. Many of us have books lying idle in our homes which would be invalu able to those deprived of so many of the pleasures and amusements enjoyed by others. There are pupils here of all ages, from those fully grown, to some sweet faced little people of five years, books, particularly illustrated books which our speaking habies have tired of, would be so welcome to these speechless ones. Let us make an effort in this matter; let us do what we can to aid the teachers and care takers who are with such admirable patience and ficelity

Extract from Slipper Report of the New York Weekly Times . "The total number of cierica. slippers presented during the holicay season, which has just ended, is 887,215. These figares represent single slippers and not pairs as might be hastily imagined, the bureau having been compelled to take cognizance of single shippers, only in consequence of the fact that there is a number of one legged, ministers who are never presented with but one slipper at a time The number of Protestant ministers among whom these slippers were civiced is 67,418, this gives an average of about thirteen slippers to each minister; of course there was no such impartial distribution. While the oneegged Methodist minister at Grand Rapics, Was lington "erritory, receiver a soutary slipper made of birch-bark by an abori anal parisooner, the fortunate Bishop of a New England diocese received 75 mirs.
